David Linn, Board Chair
Montavilla Neighborhood Association
3534 SE Main Street
Portland, Oregon 97214

Dear Mr. Linn,

Please find attached a formal grievance representing myself, several Montavilla Neighborhood members, and former MNA Board Members (see attached List of Grievants).

We are sharing the following concerns regarding the conduct of the previous MNA Board and newly elected candidates:

1. False and defamatory statements about candidates were published and distributed in violation of the board's established social media policy in an effort to influence the election.
2. MNA Board Members and elected candidates requested participation of activists outside of neighborhood boundaries and were encouraged to vote fraudulently in the election.
3. Candidates and volunteers aligned with the current board were given opportunities and advantages that other MNA members were not.

The attached grievance lists what we believe to be violations of MNA bylaws, ONI Standards and State Law, along with our proposed remedies. We hope this grievance will receive serious consideration by the MNA and thus avoid the need for additional formal actions. With this grievance we also make demand of the same remedies in the grievance under ORS 65.174 and give notice of potential litigation should this grievance not be handled in a serious and fair manner.

Finally, some of the violations in this date started more than 45 business days prior, but considering the violations were ongoing until the election date, we consider the violations to have occurred at the latest date of October 9th, 2017. If you have any questions about this grievance please direct communication to me as I am the representative of the group of grievants.

Sincerely,

Angela Todd

Grievant/Member and Representative of Group of Grievants

All of the below violations occurred within the last 45 business days and conform to the requirements under the MNA Bylaws for filing a grievance:

Violation #1

Montavilla Neighborhood Association (MNA) Board violated Article IV, Section 3 (Membership / Consent) by ignoring established board policy and procedures of the neighborhood association board, which explicitly were established to prohibit individuals from becoming members on a same-day basis. The MNA circumvented this policy by calling a same-day membership meeting in order to allow individuals to sign in and become members, and by doing so, violated a policy approved by the board earlier in 2017. The association also violated ORS 65.771(3).

These violations harmed Grievants who ran for office. False statements against these candidates were also published online in an effort to deliberately discredit and injure their reputation (Addendum 1, 2). These were on a Facebook page with over 2000 members moderated by past and current board members of the MNA. Neighbors intending to run for office sent notices to the MNA and were either never announced as running candidates, or the MNA had significant delays in announcing their candidacy. In my case, my intent to run for candidacy was published the day before the election along with a personal note I wrote to the board regarding my home address and eligibility that was obviously not intended to be included in my candidacy announcement. Following the announcement, my business license was published by a board member suggesting I had obtained a business license for election eligibility. (Addendum 3a and 3b).

Louie Ballinas (Board Member at the time and a MNA Facebook Moderator), Uriel Ballinas (Board Member at the time), Amanda Rhoads (Volunteer, MNA Facebook Moderator, current board member), Tyler Bristow (Volunteer and Friend of Board Members), Jonathan Ogden (Board Member) used false statements as a call to action to bring neighbors who were not involved in the MNA out to vote against the slandered candidates. The campaign included an online smear campaign indicating candidates and neighbors of a Facebook Group called the Montavilla Initiative (MI) were bigots, racists, anti-homeless, pro homeless sweeps (Addendums 4-7) and associates of Joey Gibson, a Patriot Prayer activist (Addendums 8-11). We have only listed a few of these incidences as addendums here. Additionally, volunteers and former board members published hard copies of false and defamatory statements and distributed these at the election (Addendums 12, 13). Finally, the MNA publically named the Montavilla Initiative for sending out an email from ‘Peter Sutherland’ indicating the membership list was secretly taken from the MNA’s possession. After neighbors were outraged at the two emails from Sutherland, including one that published all addresses of MNA members, candidates associated with the Montavilla Initiative were unfairly blamed by the MNA board. (Addendum 14 -16) Candidate Grievants were not provided sufficient opportunity to address these statements, and were slandered by members and volunteers acting in official capacities and on behalf of the MNA.

Grievants who were not candidates were deprived of a fair election, thus diluting their vote. Grievants were further harmed by the circumvention of bylaws established by the members and supporting board policies established by the previous board, which is elected by the membership to establish policies and procedures which outline firm processes to be followed.

Remedy Sought:

1. An acknowledgement and apology to the community and neighbors who were discredited, and a new election which will follow all board policies, bylaws, and has independent oversight.
2. Call membership vote for the removal of directors Jonathan Ogden, Amanda Rhoads, Jonnie Shaver (aka Jennie Shaver), and Olivia Alsept-Ellis (Livy Lou online) for involvement and misconduct in this violation.
3. Public statement apologizing for conduct of current directors and volunteers involved in these violations and past directors and volunteers (Lauren Ballinas, Uriel Ballinas, Scott Morris, Tyler Bristow).

Violation #2

Montavilla Neighborhood Association (MNA) Board violated Article VII, Section 1 (Establishment of Committees) by failing to identify the scope of the committee's authority, duties, number of members, and appointment of the committee's membership. This action also violated ORS 65.354 which set specific requirements for non-profit corporations to create committees. This harmed the Grievants as this committee took actions and made decisions in private, surrounding an election that was highly controversial, one in which the Grievants allege misconduct and effort to sway election results in their favor. It also circumvented bylaws established by the membership to govern the organization.

Remedy Sought:

1. A new election which will follow all board policies, bylaws, and with independent oversight and nullification of all decisions made by the committee.
2. Public statement apologizing for failure of former directors in enforcing and following the bylaws, ONI Standards and state law on establishment of committees and function of committees with board authority.

Violation #3

Montavilla Neighborhood Association (MNA) Board violated Article VII, Section 3 (Committees with Board Authority) by allowing a committee that was already established in violation of the bylaws to engage in a second violation of the bylaws by acting with board authority and having broad authority over expenditure of an abnormally large amount of association funds without any board approval or vote approving specific spending. This committee also did not conform to the open meeting rules, notification, public record, or quorum. This harmed the Grievants because it violates bylaws that the membership established to govern the organization and deprived members of a fair and honest election.

Remedy Sought:

1. A new election which will follow all board policies, bylaws, and with independent oversight and nullification of all decisions made by the committee.
2. Public statement apologizing for failure of former directors in enforcing and following the bylaws, ONI Standards and state law on establishment of committees and function of committees with board authority.

Violation #4

Montavilla Neighborhood Association (MNA) Board violated Article VIII (a) (Annual Meeting) by not giving a seven day notice under the bylaws. A letter was mailed to only a small number of MNA members. Many MNA members were excluded from the mailer including candidates running against the candidates who successfully won the election. Specifically, the board failed to give proper notice of the election in conformance with the bylaws. This action also violates various sections of ORS 65.034 (Notice). This violation harmed members because it violates bylaws that the membership established to govern the organization as it did not give proper notice and deprived a majority of members of a legally and bylaw required notice for an election. We conducted an informal survey and can provide many more incidences (Addendum 17).

Remedy Sought:

1. A new election which will follow all board policies, bylaws, and with independent oversight and public posted acknowledgement of fault.
2. A public statement apologizing for failure to give proper notice of annual election pursuant to Bylaws, ONI Standards and State law.

Violation #5

Montavilla Neighborhood Association (MNA) Board violated Article IX, Section 1 as the election committee, which was improperly established, never proposed a process to the board for approval as required by the section. Instead, it put it into motion as if it had broad authority and in violation of the elections article of the bylaws. This harmed the Grievants because it violates bylaws that the membership established to govern the organization, denying them a fair election, and allowed a group of individuals who had not been appointed, some of which were not members at the time, to handle funds and run an election however they wanted. This violates the bylaws, board policy, and state law.

The election committee was appointed without asking MNA members for volunteer participation. The election committee meetings were not open to neighbors, and a large portion of elected candidates were given preferential treatment that included early entry into the facility, seating in the main room, knowledge in advance of the evening's format and speeches, and early name entries on the voting ballots. There were many neighbors in a secondary room unable to hear speeches, and there were also elderly, frail and sick neighbors unable to stay through several hours of the process (Addendum 18, 19).

Remedy Sought:

1. A new election which will follow all board policies, bylaws, and with independent oversight and public posted acknowledgement of fault.

Violation #6

Montavilla Neighborhood Association (MNA) Board violated Article XII (Conflict of Interest). Specifically, Board Secretary Briar Schreiber proposed an item that would financially benefit her in violation of the bylaws conflict of interest section. This also violates Section VIII of the ONI Standards which do not allow a volunteer board member to be compensated for her time since she is elected to perform these duties in a volunteer capacity. By introducing a proposal to compensate herself at $15 an hour for volunteer duties, this was an item of clear conflict of interest and the Secretary then participated in discussion and voted in violation of the bylaws, and also did not properly declare the conflict of interest. None of the board members, having a duty to enforce the bylaws, questioned whether this was a conflict of interest or even looked into whether such a compensation scheme was allowed. Grievants were harmed by this action because it violates bylaws that the membership established to govern the organization and also was a deliberate effort to restrict information access to the public (Addendum 20).

Remedy Sought:

1. A new election which will follow all board policies, bylaws and with independent oversight and public posted acknowledgement of fault.
2. A public statement apologizing for directors failure to enforce bylaws provision on conflict of interest and for approving compensation for a role that is volunteer and does not allow for compensation.

Mark McConnell a member of the MI (His wife, Julie allegedly compared homeless people to dogs in the July Board Member) assisted in the drafting of a title nine exemption in 2015 at Multnomah University, a local private christian college. The college requested the ability from the federal government to get a Title IX exception allowing them to barr transgender students from attending the college. This led campuspride.org to add Multnomah University to its "shame" list as "one of the absolute worst campuses for LGBTQ youth" (<https://www.campuspride.org/shamelist/>). Understandably, not everyone was happy about this in the neighborhood. This leaves a lot of doubt in my mind about the ability for candidates Angela Todd, Julie McConnell, and Evelyn Mac to be able to adequately serve all members of our community as they support Mark.

Edited without the public record showing the new bizz lic she applied for. Anyone think its weird that Angela Todd bought a $100 bizz license before the elections so she could run for a board position as she doesn't live in the boundaries? Also weird the business is at her friend's house, Miyongs... wonder if the city audited this if it would be legal?

With a survivor of an actual white supremacist murderer running now for the Montavilla board, it's not really a good look being deeply paranoid about anti-fascists. I detest fascism and its supporters. If you don't like tactics some anti-fascists have, that's totally fine and something worth raising when it occurs. But to be paranoid about anyone who seeks to keep fascist activity out of our neighborhood is a hard path to walk, one that I believe will lead you away from most good intentioned folks.

Our neighbor association needs self declared anti-fascists to run it? Is this the main issue we face in Montavilla? Not land use, not our homeless, not bringing our community together? Aren't we all anti-fascist? I certainly hope so!

Someone invited Patriot Prayer's Joey Gibson — Gibson is NOT a resident of Montavilla, nor Portland at that — to our upcoming Montavilla Neighborhood Association elections. (Oct 9, 6:30, united methodist). This is after I received a personal warning the day before from "Peter Sutherland" that some patriots would be paying me a visit... mind you, I'm a 25 year old woman whose address was recently published publicly by this same person. "Peter" (possibly an alias) originally hijacked the MNA emails in order to spread a conspiracy and float his support for the Montavilla Initiative candidates who are running, before effectively doxing everyone on the MNA membership list.

I do not float any accusations here myself about MI as a whole but have had troubling interactions with a handful of individuals from this group — as I understand it, moderators do not like specifically calling individuals out so please feel free to contact me directly for their names.

I'm also running for the MNA board this Monday on a totally non-threatening, transparent and inclusive platform that has received an absurd

Can you do that?

We need this meeting. We need this election. You believe in free speech, leave us alone to speak. Do not prevent our meeting for the sake of a different agenda. Do not come to our meeting.

To clarify. No one that is a leader of MI invited Joey Gibson or Patriot Prayer. We, as a group, do not support his views in any way shape or form. We are moderates, both left and right. I didn't even know who Joey Gibson was until we were connected to him by some of the radicals on the other pages. This is just more examples of their smear campaign and it is repugnant.

We have screen shots of the person inviting Joey Gibson. She is a member of the MIPS group and quotes the Antifa is taking over the MNA mantra that is espoused by the MI in her very public message to Joey Gibson. So it's exactly what we suspected. Some less than together person buying into the paranoia and reacting. We won't post the screenshots here, but we have given the info to the media who is now sadly very interested in what's going on here.

Taking Back Montavilla for Who?

A Report on the NIMBY organized response to citizen engagement in NA's.

Contact: montavillastandsunited@gmail.com
<https://www.facebook.com/groups/MontavillaHumanRights>

This winter the city of Portland was hit with a tragic cold front, with almost half a dozen homeless people dying from exposure – including a stillborn child and a woman who was recently evicted from low income housing. In January of this year, the Montavilla Neighborhood Association hosted a warming shelter at the St. Peter and Paul Episcopal Church for the homeless for four nights and serving 160 people and The board created a committee tasked with addressing issues of housing and homelessness within Montavilla, as well as the Neighborhood Emergency Assistance Fund in order to assist low-income neighbors.

Building on the tragedy of many lost lives this winter, board members passed a resolution asking for the end of the failed city policy of homeless sweeps along with the prioritization of community based conversations on more effective solutions in dialogue with city officials. While many neighbors put the burden to resolve the issue on Portland Police, officers often attend NA with tough questions from neighbors while trying to explain that the homeless crisis as a social issue is beyond their control.

According to ONI officials, prior to this resolution the neighborhood association had very low levels of community involvement for a number of years. While some neighbors upset with the resolution claim there was a neighborhood association take over that resulted in the resolution, it was in fact a statement that was in the works for many months by NA board members who were on the board for a number of years. While several new members were appointed prior to the resolution they were voted in by all neighbors in attendance (link).

The narrative of neighborhood take over is starkly not true; however, that hasn't stopped some upset neighbors from organizing together to oust the board. According to many ONI officials this is a systemic issue within Neighborhood Associations when groups of neighbors find disagreement with one another. According to many in ONI Neighborhood Associations are held to the same regulatory standards of any city agency; however, they are comprised of untrained, unpaid community volunteers and so a typical tactic is for upset neighbors to turn to red tape to find procedural infractions to oust those neighbors have disagreements with, this has resulted in systemic issues within the neighborhood association system; however, this wasn't always the case and in the past NA's had funding for training and education on NA and city procedures and process, prior to budget cuts in the 1990's. According to an article on ONI's website by Steve Johnson

"By 1986, there were 23 Budget Advisory committees, where citizens mucked around in the everyday business of city bureaus. The Office of Neighborhood Associations (ONA) was given the task of overseeing appointments, coordinating between BACs and their respective bureaus. Also, ONA was given the task of orientation and training. While some degree of orientation and training has always been a part of commissions, boards, and citizen advisory committees, since these citizens often had less professional expertise in bureau issues, the training needs were more intense. ONA produced background packets on City budgeting and held workshops for new members to provide them with background to help make their input more valuable

. The process of involving citizens through the Bureau Advisory Committees was supplemented by the Neighborhood Needs Report system, also created in the 1980s. The system allowed neighborhood associations to prioritize public works projects. The bureaus were expected to respond either with approval of the projects or explanations about why they could not currently be undertaken or might be undertaken in the future.

The BACs were labor intensive and represented the epitome of the City's investment in citizen democracy during this period. Not all bureaus responded warmly to this process, and eventually the BAC process was modified, allowing bureaus to have more control over how citizen advisory processes were established."

<https://www.portlandoregon.gov/oni/article/81778>

Prior to this era the city of Portland was much different than the inclusive place it is today. According to Johnson, before the "neighborhood revolution"

"The city was run by white men. Citizen involvement was achieved through rounding up the usual elites, professionals, and elected officials. Abbott summarizes the process of neighborhood planning between 1957 and 1967: "as straightforward as its content. City Planning Commission reports make no reference to neighborhood groups or citizen involvement."

<https://www.portlandoregon.gov/oni/article/81778>

In fact according to Johnson the city's entire neighborhood system came on the heels of what historians call the "neighborhood revolution". This happened when young activists moved from street protests against wars and racial inequality and instead moved into working to build strong and lasting communities. The movements kicked off in opposition to rampant freeway expansions, destructive urban renewal and rampant development. In face the creation of waterfront park is a direct product of this era of neighborhood activism. Neighbors during this time decided it was ecological unsafe and organized direct action pick nicks on the freeway to shut it down. The neighborhood resistance was so intense the the old Mt. Hood Freeway was torn up and turned into waterfront park. Similarly the little known city of Maywood within Portland itself was founded in opposition to freeway expansion that would have resulted in the destruction of beloved trees in the neighborhood.

The cities support for this project of direct democracy began to fade in the 1990's. With Neighborhood Associations becoming a powerful player in city life and politics according to Johnson powerful corporations such as Weyerhauser and others began to take interest in promoting their agendas within them. It was at this time that news articles across the city began becoming prominent mentioning the rise of a mentality of Not in my backyard. Otherwise referred to as "NIMBY". Since then it has been the status quo mentality in NA's across the country. Resulting in city officials and agencies citing the lack of equity and inclusion in Neighborhood Associations as grounds for their continual disempowerment over city affairs and calls for reforms.

Current events in Montavilla reflect a clash of values not just as a neighborhood but as a city. It is a struggle over the legacy of Portland's neighborhood system and how it will take shape if neighborhood associations are to continue to be an important institution in city affairs. As the next generation people, activists and those who care about social justice begin to once again re-engage in Neighborhood Associations as a place to work for positive social change and community engagement, it's no surprise that those who have occupied these institutions since the 1990's would be up in arms.

Know your Montavilla Initiative Candidates

Introducing your local Montavilla Initiative Candidates.

Angela Todd, Evelyn Mac, Mark McConnell and Julie McConnell are all candidates running for MNA board who are in leadership positions of the Montavilla Initiative.

The screenshot shows a Facebook group page for 'Montavilla Initiative'. The group has 169 members and 6 admins. The admins listed are: Mark McConnell (Portland, Oregon), Angela Todd (Interior Designer at Angela Todd Designs, created group on August 13, 2017), Julie A. McConnell (Joined by Angela Todd on August 13, 2017), and Evelyn Mac (Joined by Angela Todd on August 13, 2017). The group was created by Angela Todd on August 13, 2017. The sidebar on the left shows various group links such as Nonbinary Makeup, Inclusive Vegan Go, Brilliant, Non-Monogamy for L, Full Moon Living Kindn, FOX Queer Fun, Queen Exchange P, and Portland Assembly.

Know your Montavilla Initiative candidates Part 2: Evelyn Mack.

For some reason Evelyn Mack is a huge participant in the Lents Neighborhood Livability Association. The LNLA has been a breakaway group from the Lents NA. Very similar to Montavilla Initiative it was formed by residents who wish to pursue a more aggressive policy towards homelessness and were dissatisfied with the board. Here you can see Evelyn making posts with explicitly racist racial profiling". After this you will find a shot of Evelyn's Petitions countering the boards NA resolution on houseless sweeps. .

The last picture is another from the LNLA group to provide insight into the mentality and tactics these people hold in common. This post was made by David Potts a day before the Lents NA elections among other comments about a "surprise at the election". As Potts and those with LNLA had made it clear their willingness to take armed vigilante violence in the past at meetings. The board took it as a serious threat and so a police presence was required at the elections. Luckily Potts was defeated. What is alarming is that LNLA and MI share many similar tactics. The recent alarmist emails sent out to the community after they were obtained by a mysterious individual rhymes with the threats and intimidations of LNLA members.

Has Lents had an issue with a very large group of (incidentally all black) teens attacking people? Montavilla has had several events now involving a very large mob that starts over by the community center and then moves around attacking people and businesses as they go. They go from a group of about 15 to 50 very quickly.

Angela Todd

Angela Todd is the next candidate running for elections. Their platform when they announced was full of conspiracies about “antifa” take over. These conspiracies have pushed her to go on with conspiratorial and vaguely threatening lines of interrogation with other candidates who have been running. In the next screen shot from the Montavilla Initiative group, Todd can be seen discussing their views on why neighborhood associations are not meant to be inclusive places.

Angela Todd

Hi [REDACTED]. Please accept my apology in advance for being so direct in my questions. Did you have another name you were using on Facebook prior to now on our neighborhood pages? I don't recall seeing your name until last week. Some candidates here have recently changed their online names and it makes it hard to follow their previous participation. Also, I understand [REDACTED] also online as [REDACTED] is your boyfriend? Are you part of Antifa? I ask because he is not only Antifa, but he has arrests related to actions involving that affiliation. I apologize if what I am asking isn't accurate. I am receiving info from concerned neighbors and I just want to set the record straight about who you are and what organizations you affiliate with.

[REDACTED] I wish to add... that participation in this group does not necessarily mean opposition to any other group! I think that's an important distinction. Do I agree with everything mentioned in here? No. But will I silence it? Also, No.

I value discussion, and that seems to be one good thing we have going over here. Let's get involved, WHATEVER OUR POLITICAL LEANING. Hell, I don't even care if someone voted for.. not who I voted for ( 😊 ) but we are all neighbors, right? We can talk about stuff without setting fire to newspaper boxes, egging or TP'ing houses, or pushing over port-A-Potties. (full disclosure: guilty on all three accounts as a teenager.. I'm not a teenager any more. 😊 )

Angela Todd Good point Joshua. Yes. I have read several references outside of this board noting our values say we are inclusive, but we are not. I think the word is misunderstood. Inclusion to the founding members - I am one of them - is about allowing differences of values and opinions NOT just inclusion of protected classes and minorities.

Mark McConnell

Mark McConnell a member of the MI (His wife, Julie allegedly compared homeless people to dogs in the July Board Member) assisted in the drafting of a title nine exemption in 2015 at Multnomah University, a local private christian college. The college requested the ability from the federal government to get a Title IX exception allowing them to barr transgender students from attending the college. This led campuspride.org to add Multnomah University to its “shame” list as “one of the absolute worst campuses for LGBTQ youth” (<https://www.campuspride.org/shamelist/>). Understandably, not everyone was happy about this in the neighborhood. The entire admin list of the Montavilla Initiative then set out to defend Multnomah University’s “right” to discriminate. This leaves a lot of doubt in my mind about the ability for candidates Angela Todd, Julie McConnell, and Evelyn Mac to be able to adequately serve all members of our community.

Who Invited Gibson

If you're wondering who invited Joey Gibson and Patriot Prayer to Montavilla start by asking the Montavilla Initiative people. In this screenshot of a Joey Gibson live stream a few months ago you will find a Montavilla Initiative member inviting Gibson to Montavilla (click to see comment). Coincidentally 4 of Montavilla Initiatives admins are also running in the elections. Similarly you can see an email sent from the person who runs the “Take Back Montavilla” email telling a neighbor that “Patriots” would be in attendance. Remember in this person's initial email they are an open and firm supporter of folks at the Montavilla Initiative.

The Emails Sent out to Everyone.

In Montavilla recently a mysterious email was sent out to neighbors across the area by an unknown individual named Peter Sutherland writing from the email account takebackmontavilla@gmail.com. Allegedly Peter somehow obtained the email list from the Montavilla Neighborhood Association. They then sent out this rambling email about an antifa take over in the area. This along with the emails, names and address of anyone who has ever attended an MNA meeting. This caused much distress in the community. Unsurprisingly the email unequivocally endorses the Montavilla Initiative group.

Many community members were asking questions. Some received responses like the one below

This was in my gmail promotions folder so I just saw it - anyone else get this? I don't even know how they got the email they used - it's my work email and not the one I signed in with at meetings: Hello Fellow Neighbors,

One of the most important elections in the Montavilla Neighborhood Association history will be on October 9th at 6:30pm at Montavilla United Methodist Church. Usually neighborhood association elections do not draw a large crowd and are not important for most neighbors. This election is different though and you should mark the date on your calendar and arrive early for the general meeting and sign in to declare yourself a member so you can vote in the election that night.

This election is especially important because in June of this year, a group of activists who live in the neighborhood who have an anti-police and anti-government political ideology and very radical agenda did a forceful takeover of the neighborhood association board. You can learn more about the takeover and other deeply concerning actions by this group by joining the closed Montavilla Initiative Facebook Group linked below or hear an account by neighbor Robert Secord who described the takeover as Game of Thrones style. They also had their friends from other neighborhoods and suburbs of Portland come into a meeting in July to pose as Montavilla residents to try and silence actual neighbors who were opposed to a resolution that was secretly passed by the new board.

(<http://portlandtribune.com/.../366485-248126-controversial-mo...> and <http://pamplinmedia.com/.../368612-250747-closed-montavilla-m...>). One of their friends at that meeting who wore a mask for the entire meeting actually threatened to burn neighbors' homes down for opposing the secretly passed resolution. This group has falsely accused neighbors of being white supremacists, transphobic and other things in order to try and discredit neighbors seeking accountability.

This group is doing a lot of other things which can be shared privately but cannot be shared in this email.

Take these actions to ensure our neighborhood association has a board that respects all neighbors and doesn't try to push their own agenda or continue to try and take actions in secret.

Connections to White Supremacists

Here is a collection of screens. The first is of a person questioning board chair Jonathan Ogden about "cultural Marxism" the next two are screens from this same person page where he openly supports white supremacist Richard Spencer and promotes a fundraising page for neo-Nazi website the Daily Stormer. Demonstrating a clear affinity for fascist politics. The last screen shows a conversation on the same topic pertaining to "the Frankfurt school" which is widely regarded at the school of cultural marxism by those in the right. This article from the Gaurdian explains how this right wing ideology functions

<https://www.theguardian.com/commentisfree/2015/jan/19/cultural-marxism-a-uniting-theory-for-right-wingers-who-love-to-play-the-victim>

Basically this shows how these people are already directly empowering and supporting fascists and violent ultra nationalist in our neighborhood.

That Marxist theory is underformed, poorly borrowed from Proudhonian

character of the Lumpen and is implicitly bourgeois itself. Pretty much the opposite of what I'm about since I don't

What do you think? It's the obvious

Brad Purfeerst Fascinating. The author is a student of Critical Theory via the Frankfurt School. It is their underlying position that the masses have been pacified by capitalism and mass consumerism which makes the advantaged classes greedy in maintaining the status quo. I.e. White supremacy and the Trump regime. Consequently because of your white privilege, you are innately racist, sexist, homophobic and transphobic against marginalized identities becoming equal or enjoying taxpayer dollars to benefit them. This is a very passionate position that sees inaction or opposition to the Progressive agenda as selfish, greedy and evil. If you oppose this ideology, the only possible excuse to them is that you are evil and bigoted. That is why you are confronted by shaming and accusation.

Jeff Church Thanks, that is really informative. I realize that capitalism has exploitative elements, which is one reason that I'm so pro-union. Unions actually were a conduit to helping the low/middle class access to the dream. It worked pretty good until the powers that be started to make them irrelevant. There has to be a level of socialism in our society to make it work.

Truman Article

Enter jeremy Luciano. Jeremy Luciano is a known member of the violent ultra nationalist organization known as Patriot Prayer. The same group that marched with the Max Station Stabber white supremacist Jeremy Christensen in Montavilla. Luciano attempted a hostile takeover of the Turman neighborhood association. The situation played out with Luciano and friends entering meetings and engaging in shouting matches with board members, advocated for tough on crime policies like armed crime patrols, and engaging in threatening harassment of board members after meetings <http://www.columbian.com/.../truman-neighborhood.../> “Luciano has traveled with Joey Gibson's gang to Berkeley and Seattle for the purpose of brawling with protesters. Violent spectacles are not unknown to Luciano. In 2014, he pled guilty to disorderly conduct and bail jumping, stemming from an incident in which he flashed a pistol during a road rage incident, and then failed to show up for a court date."<http://rosecityantifa.org/articles/warriors-for-freedom/>

<http://www.columbian.com/.../truman-neighborhood-association.../>

Jeremy Luciano - Vancouver, WA

Co-Owner of American Freedom Keepers LLC, with Francis Marion. Luciano has traveled with Joey Gibson's gang to Berkeley and Seattle for the purpose of brawling with protesters. Violent spectacles are not unknown to Luciano. In 2014, he pled guilty to disorderly conduct and bail jumping, stemming from an incident in which he flashed a pistol during a road rage incident, and then failed to show up for a court date. Despite his history of violence, Luciano also is employed by the Clark County Republican Party, as 49th LD Precinct Development Executive.

Connection between Lents Neighborhood Livability, Montavilla Initiative and Patriot Prayer

As mentioned previously both Lents Neighborhood Livability and Montavilla Initiative formed as groups of neighbors upset with the lack of aggressive policing and upset with their neighborhood associations stand on the issue of homelessness. NIMBYism has been a widely reported negative phenomena in neighborhood associations in Portland and across the country; however, in many areas it has taken root as the expected norm of neighborhood associations.

As the next generation of people enter neighborhood associations as a viable place to tackle social issues that go unaddressed by city and government institutions, they reflect the actual original intent of neighborhood associations and instead work to once again make them a functional institution in our democratic society. Of course those used to things as they are likely to not be happy about the changes.

As such we have seen the rise of a more organized NIMBY movement reflected in the politics and interactions between Patriot Prayer members working to take over NA's in Vancouver, the actions and politics of Montavilla Initiative and Lents Neighborhood Livability Association. However, there are even more reasons to believe there is a strong cross over between these groups.

Recently Board members in Lents have filed reports to ONI pertaining to requests from individuals associated with Lents Neighborhood Livability Association to obtain email lists and contacts for all neighborhood associations members there. Members being anyone who has ever attended a neighborhood association. This directly parallels the tactics used by the Montavilla Initiative supporters.

The individual making the requests is Michael Shultz. Shultz is has been notoriously harassing the Lents Neighborhood Association for many months. Curiously Shultz can be seen commenting on the same exact Patriot Prayer video as "Amy Raulerson", the individual associated with Montavilla Initiative who invited Patriot Prayer to the neighborhood. A full list of the conversation can be seen here

(<https://www.facebook.com/100013660111371/videos/311141049351230/>)

Interestingly, as previously mentioned Evelyn Mac of the Montavilla Initiative is also an extremely active participant in the Lents Neighborhood Livability Association, with photos on their page of her attending many of their meetings and events.

The connections are clear, when we speak about neighborhood association take overs we have to ask who is taking over what and from whom? Are duly appointed and elected neighborhood association board members taking over a board, or are the individuals doing everything in their efforts to remove them the ones we should be asking these questions? With social issues and solutions coming to neighborhood associations they are likely to remain lively places for debate and dispute on social issues; however, that is the exact dream of Portland experiment with direct democracy and neighborhood associations. To give every citizen a voice and an opportunity for exclusion. While some will be upset with a new generation getting involved, we as a community should work together instead of working to sabotage and harm one another.

Angela Todd Jonathan Ogden I am sincerely sorry this happened. You wrote this reply well. What a nightmare! What a poor decision on "Peter Sutherlands" part to send the list to the membership body. I understand on Monday you replied to at least one neighbor (after the first email) that Montavilla Initiative sent the email. (I wish you would have asked us first. We had nothing to do with this email and didn't have access to the MNA list anyway.) Can you please clear up any emails you sent out earlier this week naming Montavilla Initiative? Last, it is pretty obvious from the continued grievances of Sutherland and his inside view of the board and policies it is almost certainly an inside job - that is to say a previous board member. I would start to identify this person's true identity by considering any disgruntled past board members with experience in hacking and hiding online. One in particular comes immediately to mind for me.

Christina R So it is possible that the MNA provided the contacts list to someone who was not a member? If Peter's membership was not confirmed, and still can't be validated, then why is the statute being used to justify sharing our personal information? It sounds like the list was shared without complying with ORS 65.744. That is the part that has me concerned.
